

BURNDOWN

In the burndown chart, we can see that not much work was done in the first half of the sprint. This is due to the first half of the sprint being reading week, and the large amount of time we took to plan out this sprint, as well as time consuming events for many of our team members (also they won a hackathon). There is a spike on the last day of the sprint.

Last sprint, our velocity was 73 story points.

This sprint, our velocity is 105 story points.

Our velocity has changed due to our team feeling more confident in taking on more tasks.
