

BURNDOWN

In the burndown chart, we can see that not much work was done in the first half of the sprint. We took a long time planning out this sprint, and in addition to many exams and assignment deadlines, our team was not able to get work done initially. There is a spike on the last day of the sprint.

Last sprint, our velocity was 105 story points.

This sprint, our velocity is 125 story points.

Our velocity has changed due to our team feeling more confident in taking on more tasks.
